Chase Speeds Reach 110 miles per Hour

Officers from four police agencies were involved in a high speed chase early Sunday morning that culminated with the arrest of a 22 year-old Ohio man.

The chase originated in Grayling Township at 2:37 a.m. and covered 53 miles with speeds in excess of 110 m.p.h. before the vehicle was stopped near Jackson's Corner in Lyon Township, Roscommon County, at 3:07 a.m. Officers from the Crawford County, Roscommon County, and Missaukee County Sheriff Departments and the Grayling City Police Department were involved in the 30-minute chase.

The Ohio man is being lodged in the Crawford County Jail awaiting arraignment on charges of O.U.I.L., fleeing and eluding, driving the wrong way on a one-way street, and disregarding a stop sign.

Grayling Man Arraigned

Forrest Charles Stott, 31, of Grayling, was arraigned before Judge Francis Walsh in 83rd District Court on Tuesday, May 9, and plead not guilty to a charge of disorderly person, indecent or obscene conduct.

A $1,000 cash surety bond was set by Magistrate Jean Callewaert. Bond was paid by Kozy Ball Bond of Saginaw.

Stott was arrested on May 2nd in connection with an incident that occurred in the city of Grayling.

Grayling Chief of Police Peter Stephan and Assistant Prosecuting Attorney David Sabin both said they did not want to comment on the arrest in order to protect both the suspect's right to a fair trial and the people's right to receive justice.

Lovells Youth Injured In Auto Accident

Scott Lehto, 18, of Lovells Township, was critically injured on Saturday, May 6, when he lost control of his car and struck two trees. He was transported by Frederic Ambulance to Mercy Hospital, and then transferred by helicopter by Northern E.M.S. to Munson Medical Center in Traverse City where he was listed in critical condition.

Lehto was traveling northbound on County Road 612 in Lovells Township when he failed to negotiate a curve and went off the north side of the road and struck a tree. The car turned around and wrapped around a second tree with Lehto still inside.

As of Monday, May 8, Lehto's condition had improved and was listed as serious. He is in the Intensive Care Unit at Munson Medical Center.

The accident occurred at 2:05 a.m. and is still under investigation by the Crawford County Sheriff Department. Police reported that alcohol was involved.

3rd Annual Police Memorial Ceremonies Set

All law enforcement officers, past and present, are invited by the Crawford County Sheriff's Department to attend the Third Annual Official Police Memorial Day Ceremonies.

The ceremonies will be held Monday, May 15th, at 2:00 p.m. at the Crawford County Sheriff Department. Refreshments will be served after the ceremony and the public is invited.

G-P Tax Abatement Hearing May 11th

A public hearing on a 50 percent tax abatement application for Georgia-Pacific's proposed formaldehyde plant addition will be held at 7 p.m. Thursday, May 11, at the Beaver Creek Twp. Hall. Georgia-Pacific is asking for a 50 percent tax abatement for 12 years on the estimated $10 million plant expansion, according to Beaver Creek officials.

Georgia-Pacific would pay an estimated $218,000 a year in taxes on the new plant addition without any tax abatement, according to Beaver Creek officials. With the 50 percent tax abatement, Georgia-Pacific would pay an estimated $117,000 in new taxes. The lower amount is not 50 percent because of special assessment millages which are exempt from the tax abatement.

Street Work on Target For Memorial Day Finish

Good weather and the lack of any major problems has allowed the downtown street construction to progress on schedule.

City manager, Jerry Morford, said that the work is about 60 percent completed, and anticipates that the Memorial Day target date for completion should be met.

Morford said that nothing unusual was unearthed during removal of the old surfacing materials.

Because of the age of the streets and the fact that Grayling was a lumbering town, Morford said that he had expected to find some old logs that would have indicated that Grayling's streets were once made from logs, called corduroy streets.

Morford said that sidewalk work should begin around May 10 or 11. At this time the plan is to lay concrete about 12 feet from the storefronts toward the curb, and then a 25 inch strip of brick will be placed along the curb. Planters will be constructed intermittently along the brick strip.

Grayling Country Club Expanding to 18 Holes

By Irene Pettyjohn

The Grayling Country Club has decided to expand its nine hole golf course to an 18 hole course. Construction is slated to begin in early May.

John Wejrowski, president of the board, said that the expansion project has been discussed for about five years, but the decision to proceed with the construction was made following the completion of a feasibility study that was approved by stockholders at their September meeting.

Wejrowski said that at first it appeared that the project was doomed because so much of the club's property is considered wetlands by the Department of Natural Resources (DNR). Other club property either bordered on wetlands, or Simpson Creek. The solution to the problem came in the form of a 10 acre property exchange with the DNR which enabled the club to expand without endangering the wetlands or its inhabitants.

DNR permits and county building permits have been secured, said Wejrowski.

"This area has been in need of more than a nine hole golf course for years," said Wejrowski. "Most people who play golf, don't want to play nine holes."

Wejrowski said that 90 percent of the construction and renovation projects and the seeding process will be completed by the end of the first year. The remainder of the construction will be completed in 1990, with the course ready for play in 1991.

Besides the expansion of the course, the project will include enlarging the parking facility, the construction of a cart storage and maintenance building, and the renovation of the club house to re-vamp its storage facilities.

The estimated price tag for the project is $450,000.

"That is the amount of money available to us," said Wejrowski, "but we probably won't have to use the full amount." He said that there are variables, such as contracting with Camp Lehman for prisoners to help with part of the construction and bids that could come in below present estimates, that could affect the final cost.

J. John Gorney, Inc. of Grand Rapids, is the project architect, and Jack Millikin, Inc. of Grayling is the construction contractor. Millikin is the construction contractor for Fox Run Golf Course, located on Four Mile Road.

"Having three 18 hole golf courses in this area will promote more golf to the area," stated Wejrowski. "People coming north for a golf weekend will play at several courses." Wejrowski said that they might travel to Traverse City to play the "Bear" for a day, but probably would not stay there for the entire weekend.

"They might spend a day or so in Grayling," he said, "and play the Country Club's course, Fox Run, or the planned course at River Bend." Wejrowski said that the Grayling Country Club will continue to offer memberships and be open to the public, but that it will now be operated more like a business than a private club.

The design of the new course will not only mean nine additional holes, he said, but it will also enlarge the existing nine holes to make the course a championship size course.

Hanson Hills Only Issue on Tuesday Ballot

A 1/4 mill renewal for Hanson Hills will be the only issue on the ballot Tuesday, May 16, in a special election for Crawford County voters.

The 1/4 mill would generate approximately $48,000 a year to help operate the year-round recreational facility. Hanson Hills also receives revenues through fees from skiers and some other users of the park.

The Grayling Recreation Authority is asking voters to approve the 1/4 mill through 1995, when the current lease is up for renewal with the Michigan National Guard.

The park has been receiving the 1/4 mill for the past four years.

The 1/4 mill renewal was turned down by county voters twice in 1988. It was defeated on the August primary ballot and it was defeated on the November ballot.

The special election will cost $8,500 to $10,000 and Hanson Hills is paying for the cost. Hanson Hills supporters planned to pay for the election by donations and fundraisers. A Las Vegas night held last Friday at the Holiday Inn was called a success by Hanson Hills supporters with 208 persons attending. John Webster won the Mystery Car giveaway.

The special election was called after a lack of snow last winter cut into ski revenues.

The Grayling Recreation Authority has looked into operating the park without a millage, but the group feels the millage is the best way to make the park accessible to Crawford County youth.

Grayling city residents will vote at City Hall. Grayling Township residents will vote at the new township offices in the former Northern Mich. Land and Oil building. Frederic, Maple Forest, Lovells, South Branch, and Beaver Creek residents will vote at their township halls. Polls open at 7 a.m. and close at 8 p.m.

Bluebirds Receive Helping Hand (and a Home)

By Irene Pettyjohn

Two years ago Roger Barber, a Grayling resident, read about the plight of Michigan's bluebird and began a personal effort to bring the songbirds back to Crawford County.

"I was curious to know if by putting out birdhouses I could actually make a difference," said Barber. "The more boxes I put out the more birds I got."

According to a Michigan United Conservation Corp fact sheet Michigan's (bluebird) population has decreased by 75 percent. He explained that the birds are threatened by both the loss of their natural nesting habitat, and by predatory birds that "take over" their nests, often destroying the eggs and killing the young.

Old and dead trees that contain cavities, natural nesting sites for bluebirds, are being cut down for development and fire wood, said Barber. Wooden fence posts that once lined farm fields and roads, which he said also contained cavities, are either being torn down as small farms disappear, or are being replaced with longer lasting metal posts.

In an attempt to provide nesting sites, Barber began building and placing birdhouses throughout the county. To date, he has placed 370 birdhouses on both private and state land.

"I would like to thank the DNR and private landowners for allowing me to put up the houses, and re-enter their properties to maintain them," Barber said. "I have about 1/2 of the boxes on private land and 1/2 on state land."

"I try to keep the houses repaired and painted," he said, "so that they don't become an eyesore, and so that they leave a favorable impression of Crawford County. I have never had anyone turn me down," Barber stated.

Maintenance of the houses is as important as providing the nesting sites in the first place. Barber said that poorly maintained nest boxes can be harmful to whatever bird uses it.

Maintenance begins about the second week in April, when the birds begin returning from their southern wintering grounds. Barber said that old nesting materials must be removed before the boxes are used. The boxes then need to be checked every two weeks throughout the nesting season, April to mid-August.

"Bluebirds nest two to three times per year," said Barber, "and each time they mate, they build a new nest." He said that if the old nests are not removed after the brood leaves, the bluebirds will build a second nest on top of the first nest, promoting blowfly infestation and raising the nest closer to the entrance hole making it more susceptible to predators.

Bluebirds

Barber said that after he removes the old nest he sprinkles a light dusting of powdered rotenone in the bottom of the houses to help prevent blowfly and mite infestations.

611 YOUNG BIRDS

"The first year I had about 40 pairs of birds nesting in the houses," said Barber, "and last year I had about 100 pairs and I counted 611 young birds." Barber said that he will begin checking the boxes next week, and anticipates that he will find at least the same number of birds as last year.

Barber said that he began building bluebird houses as a hobby because he cares about birds.

"It started as a hobby," he said, "but I just got carried away. Everytime I saw a vacant piece of property," Barber said, "I decided to put out another house, and the first thing I knew, I had houses all over the county."

"To be perfectly honest," stated Barber, "by the end of the summer I get tired of cleaning birdhouses and counting birds. My wife would like to see me working around the house a little more, too," he said.

800 BIRDHOUSES

Barber said that over the past two years he has built more than 800 birdhouses, but quickly added, "but there are more people involved than just me."

"Area carpenters have donated scraps of lumber," he said, "and it takes a lot of lumber to build 800 birdhouses." Barber said that a county prisoner helped with the painting this year, and his employer, Chuck Fick, donates work space, tools, heat and electricity.

Barber also gives credit to his co-workers who put up with his mess.

Bluebird house construction is unique. The entrance hole should be 1 1/2 inches around to allow passage of small birds such as chickadees, house wrens, and tree swallows, but be starling-proof. The sides of the box should be 1/4 of an inch from the bottom and top plates to allow for ventilation, and the house should be nine inches deep to keep the nest protected from predators.

Placement of the house is equally important. The house should be placed on a wood or metal post four to six feet above the ground. If a wood post is used, he said that the post should be surrounded by a length of stove pipe or a collar of metal flashing to protect the house from raccoons, opossums, and other predatory animals.

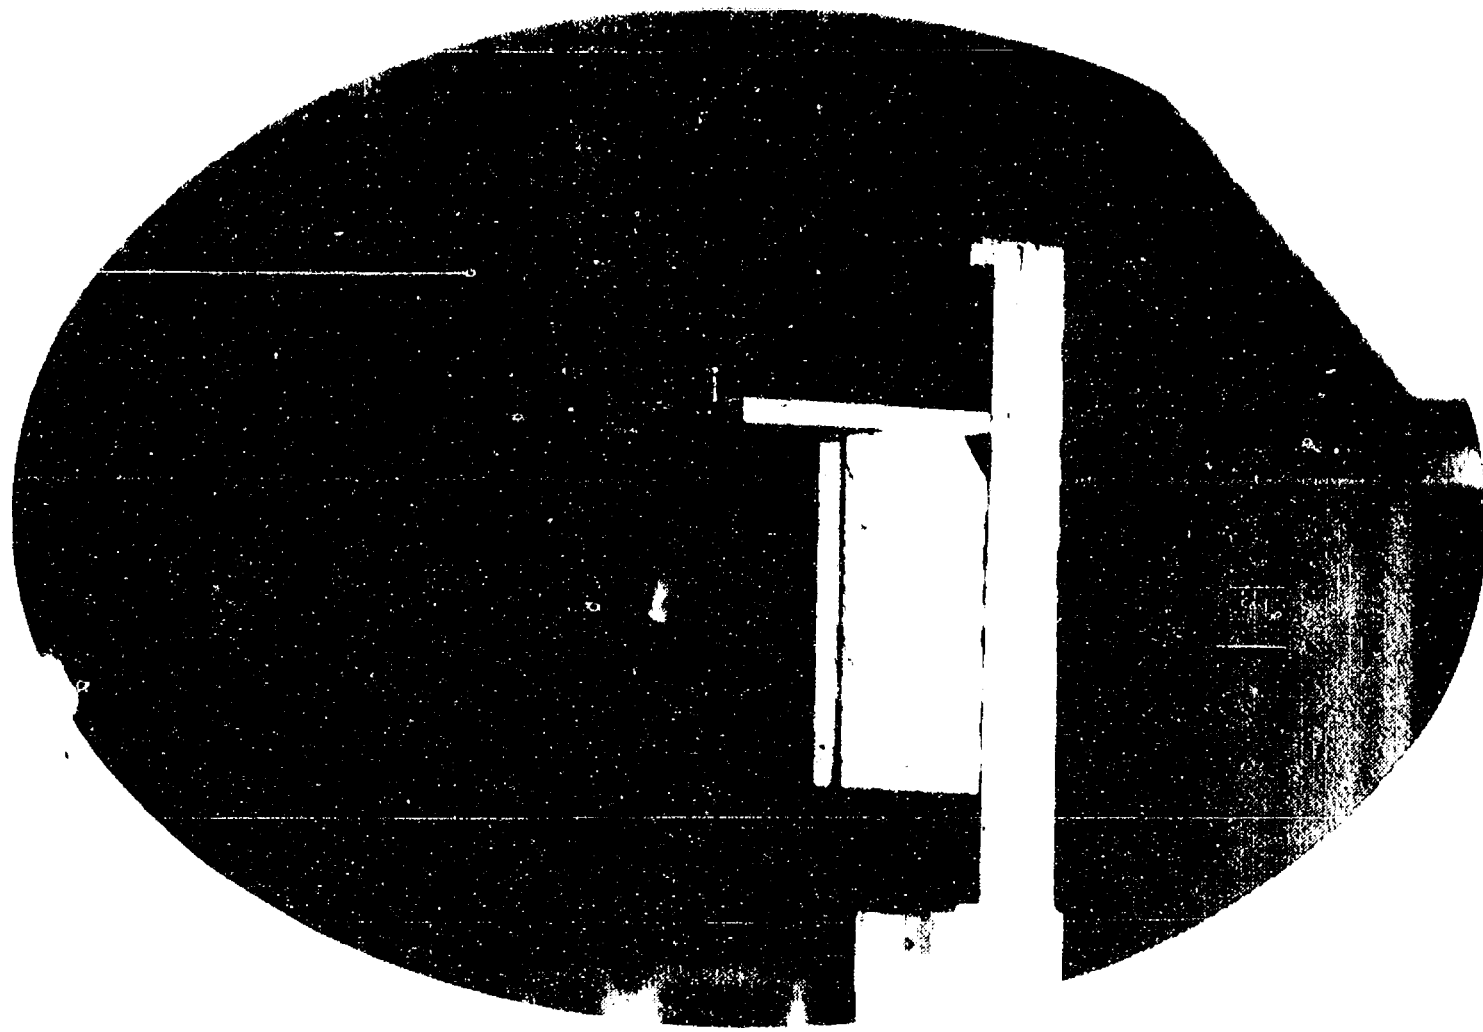

The houses should be located about 100 yards from buildings in an open area with scattered trees. (Houses placed in heavily wooded areas will attract house wrens.) The entrance hole should face a tree that is not closer than 100 yards, so that the young can fly to the tree when they first leave the nest.

Why does Roger Barber keep building houses?

"It is the satisfaction," answered Barber. "It makes me feel good to know that my houses are helping the birds."

As word of Barber's birdhouses spread, he began receiving requests from other concerned people who asked if he would build them a bluebird house. Barber said that he also feels good when he hears that birds are nesting in those houses, and "bringing a little happiness to the folks taking care of the houses."

The bluebirds are only in the area during the warm weather, but Barber's birdhouse building is a year-round job. To date, he has given away more than 400 bluebird houses.

HOME-SWEET-HOME — These bluebirds have already begun gathering nesting materials.

We would like to thank the Crawford County Ambulance Service for their quick and expert service and care that was given to our father, Jack L. Hull, last Tuesday. Also to everyone at Grayling Mercy Hospital, especially Dr. George and the staff on call that morning.

It's nice to know you have expert people there to help you when you need it. Dad is now at Munson Medical Center in Traverse City in the Coronary Care Unit, Room 3000F, in stable condition.

Once again, we thank everyone for their wonderful help and all his friends that have been so concerned.

Alpena Knocks GHS Out of Knowledge Bowl Finals

Grayling High School, in its first year of competition, made it to the state semi-finals of the Knowledge Bowl. Alpena knocked Grayling off in the semi-final bracket of the larger school pool. The winner of the larger school bracket was expected to beat the class D school finalist in the other bracket, with the winner earning a trip to New Orleans for the national Knowledge Bowl finals.

Grayling defeated West Branch, Tawas, and Oscoda before failing to Alpena. Competing for Grayling were Mark Hubbard, Jordan Stancil, Josh Lepsy, Jennifer Naour, John Kraus, Scott Hartman, Don Broecker, Paula Nunn, and Linda Denton.

Panels of four students from each high school were asked a series of questions. Responding first with the correct answer earned points.

"They did pretty well considering it was their first year of competition," said their instructor Tom Mills. "Grayling can be proud of how far they went."

The students competing were from Grayling High School's gifted and talented class. The Knowledge Bowl was taped and will be shown Saturdays at 7 p.m. on Channel 11 from Alpena.

"It was good for them," said Mills. "It's a lot easier to sit in the audience and come up with the right answer than it is when you're in front of cameras."

Northern Views

By Jon Thompson
Avalanche Editor

Remember the "$64,000 dollar question" from the old television show?

Well, 5 members of the Beaver Creek Twp. board face an even more exciting question -- a $1,212,000 dollar question.

Should Georgia-Pacific be granted a 50 percent tax abatement for its proposed formaldehyde addition?

If the tax abatement is granted for 12 years, Georgia-Pacific will save an estimated $101,000 a year, or a total of $1,212,000 over the 12 years, according to Beaver Creek Twp. officials who used last year's tax rates for the estimate.

The Beaver Creek Board has to consider that even with a 50 percent tax abatement, Georgia-Pacific will pay an estimated $117,000 in new taxes a year, or a total of $1,404,000 in taxes for the plant addition over the 12 years.

The Beaver Creek Twp. Board, made up of John Hartman, Florence Nelson, Terry McGregor, Kathleen Mobarak, and Richard Johnson, has a major-league question to deal with. Suppose you don't give the tax abatement and Georgia-Pacific decides it can't afford to build the addition. Then you've lost out on an estimated $1,404,000 in taxes over 12 years. Suppose Georgia-Pacific figures without that plant addition, the Beaver Creek plant will lose money and they decide to pull out of the area. Then you've lost a major industry in a area that doesn't have many.

On the other hand, some people might argue that industry brings in added burdens on public services and industries should pay their fair share of taxes. Or there are some people who feel Georgia-Pacific is going to build the addition anyway. Thus, they say don't grant the abatement and collect all the taxes.

It's a tough call for a township board. An article by R. Thomas Martin, of the Mich. Dept. of Commerce, in the May, 1989, Michigan Township News Magazine said "... determining whether an abatement is necessary often falls in the crystal ball category. Local officials typically do not have access to the spread sheet calculations of the company, and few companies are likely to provide a useful answer to the question, 'Do you really need this abatement?'"

If the township board didn't already have a tough enough situation, add this for thought. Beaver Creek Twp. Board members are trying to represent all the residents of the township besides being true to how each one of them feels about it. Plus the township board has to ask other taxing units for their views, the local school district, the county, C.O.D.R., and KCC.

If that wasn't enough to think about, Georgia-Pacific said they would donate $50,000 to the local school district for three straight years if the tax abatement was granted and state school finance reform doesn't occur. Additionally, there is a group organized to oppose the proposed formaldehyde addition.

However way you look at it, it's a tough million dollar question for the Beaver Creek Twp. Board members.

Letters to the Editor

Trout Stamp Should Include all Fishermen

Dear Ralph Ostling:

A matter that has caused some concern in our community is the interpretation of the law as it applies to requirements of the use of the trout stamp.

In quoting Mr. Kyle Kruger, Fisheries Biologist of the DNR, "A trout stamp is necessary to 'take' salmon or trout which means to possess. Therefore in designated trout waters a fishing license is required, but if you do not take a trout, you do not need a trout stamp."

If this is the correct interpretation of the law, then it needs to be changed so that all fishermen whether they enjoy the pleasure of catching and releasing should be required to purchase a trout stamp.

Couldn't Live With Self If Voted Against Youth

Dear Jon,

I can't believe there are enough voters against it to turn down a quarter-mill property tax investment in the youth of this county. A quarter-mill assessment on a $50,000 home costs the homeowner $6.25 a year. About the cost of 2 hamburgers, fries, and a shake at a drive-in. I think that's a very small amount to guarantee a year-round recreation area for the youth of our county.

When I was a boy, I used to walk to Hanson Hills every winter weekend to ski and skate. They didn't have anything out there for summer recreation then. In the summer we used to walk to the East Branch, the backwaters of the old dam, School Section Lake, or Lake Margrethe to fish, swim, picnic, or just run in the woods.

Kids today can't do that because the East Branch and the Old Dam areas are all built up. School Section Lake is now a Church Camp, and Lake Margrethe is getting so built up there is hardly a place to go. We used to swim up behind what is now the County Building, but that's all built up too. But if we keep it open, the youth from all over the County can take dial-a-ride to Hanson Hills for ballgames, fishing, picnicing, and just running in the woods.

$6.25 is less than a bag of birdseed. How can anyone with an ounce of feelings vote against it. I'm on what I consider an inadequate fixed income myself, but I'll be damned if I could live with myself if I voted against it.

Camp Shawono Crew Helps Little League

Saturday, April 22nd, several youths from Camp Shawono helped the Grayling Little League get Millikin Field ready for the 1989 baseball season. The youths, under the guidance of Camp Shawono counselors, made it possible for the field to be completely cleaned and a new paint job on all the bleachers.

Also on hand to work were several members of the Little League Board of Directors and coaches.

The Camp Shawono

group brought two large urns of coffee and hot cocoa, a large sheet cake, and sandwiches that were furnished by the cooks at the camp.

This type of public service by Camp Shawono was highly appreciated and a special thanks goes to all the persons involved in helping. Hats off from the Grayling Little League for a job well done.

Let's Talk About It

By Joe Murphy

If we are not grateful for the fine medical service and care we have today, we really should be. While doing some research in the Crawford County death records I found a lot of very sad cases. For example, the Haustman family of Grove Township (then a part of Grayling Township), during the winter of 1888, lost four children to Scarlet Fever. Joseph, age 9, died on Jan. 22nd, Marlene, age 6, on Jan. 27th, George, age 4, on Jan. 30th, and Sophia, on Mar. 3rd.

When you realize how things were in those days it hits you full force. The father was no doubt away working in a lumber camp, trying to raise some cash money. The mother and children were left in a crude settler's cabin to hold down the homestead alone. Can we even imagine the grief and suffering that poor woman had to endure that winter. The deaths were all recorded the same day in April, so, she must have had to store the bodies of her children until the father returned in the spring. So when we complain of the high price of health care today, we should remember the terrible price they paid without it.

I, for one, am very glad they remodeled the Grayling Middle School, instead of tearing it down and replacing it. I can still say I once went to school there. It has been changed a great deal but the basic building is still there. I still get angry when I think of how they tore down the Frederic School. The land was not really needed for the new school buildings. It could have served the people of Frederic, in so many ways.

I was asked to try to find out when the old AuSable Hotel, in Frederic, now known as "The Swamp", was built. The tax rolls books of 1885, showed the land where it sets, was still part of a forty acre parcel but by the year 1890, the land where it sets, was separate and assessed at $200, including two pool tables.

I feel we are very lucky to have a club such as, the Grayling Booster's Club, in our town. They have been so helpful in providing for our youth programs. I think they deserve a big THANK YOU, from all of us.

Notes from the Woods

By Nancy Lemmen
Avalanche Columnist

My family and friends are so sweet. They try to shield me from the things they know I find hard to handle. "I just saw 'Gorillas in the Mist,'" said a pal the other day. "It was a great movie. Don't go see it, Nancy."

She knows that I'm not insensitive to the plight of gorillas. Through membership in the Gorilla Foundation, I know about Dian Fossey's love for and struggle to save the gorillas in Africa from poachers. I know about Digit, the one she loved best. I know that poachers killed him in order to sell a few parts of his body. I know that they murdered her because she fought them. And I know that she is now buried in a grave near her beloved Digit.

My friend knows how I am, knows that seeing Fossey's story in full-color on the big screen, accompanied by dramatic music and portrayed by Academy Award nominee Sigourney Weaver might be almost too much to go through.

I've always been weak like that. I remember the great sadness I felt as a child at seeing "Bambi," "Old Yeller" and "The Incredible Journey." When "Bambi" was recently rereleased, you couldn't have dragged me to it. Don't tell me it's just an animated film with an upbeat ending. I'm still grieving about his mother dying in a forest fire and his father getting shot by hunters.

I despair at the story of the old stray dog who saves his young master from a bear and a mountain lion on the Western Plains, only to contract rabies. I find no consolation that the pioneer boy gets Old Yeller's pup after having to put the father "out of his misery."

"The Incredible Journey" even ends happily with the young dog, the old dog and the Siamese cat finding home after covering hundreds of miles of Canadian land. Meanwhile, the family is convinced that they will never see their pets again. The last scene, when the father and the boy first spot them approaching, is beautiful but simply too much for me.

"Watch for the scene in 'A Fish Called Wanda,' when a dog is run over by a car," says another friend. "Close your eyes in the scene from 'The Last Emperor' when the young Chinese emperor kills his pet mouse," warns Dave. They know I can't handle movies in which animals are mistreated.

They know that even incidental animal abuse on film affects my enjoyment of the rest of the movie. I make them sit with me until the very end to see if the credits carry the occasional disclaimer that "No animals were abused to make this movie."

But sweet as they are, they can't keep me from real life. They can't keep me from seeing the beagle lying dead at the side of the highway. Did someone run him over deliberately? Where does his family think he is right now? Did he die instantly or suffer on the cold shoulder as cars roared past?

They can't keep me from hearing that the neighbor's dog was shot by some other neighbor. What did that friendly, lively animal do to earn such a death? Should I be afraid for my own dogs? Can't we trust even the people who live around us?

They can't keep me — although, bless them, they tried — from hearing on the television news last winter that a family dog was killed by cattle rustlers in Clare County as he tried to stop them from butchering a cow.

I told Dave about the news item when he got home from work. It turned out that he already knew about the killing. So did his parents, who live in Clare. They had decided it was better left untold to me, but the local newscaster was not so sensitive.

The story was about a dog I had heard of, had wanted to write about months before, but it wasn't my story to tell. Now it is.

The stray Brittany spaniel dog, was called Rover. Eleven years ago he wandered onto a ranch in Clare County and hung out with the cows. Although the kind people fed him daily, he would not let humans get close, preferring the company of one cow which he adopted as his own. When she died, they did not dare bury her because they were certain that Rover would dig up her body.

Even then he had little use for the humans, but eventually attached himself to a second cow. He stayed with her, ate with her, slept with her. The ranch owner believed that he had been abused by his first master. In the wisdom born of his previous experience, he chose a life in the fields among cows over a softer life in the house among humans.

That choice eventually led to his death. Not before he had become well-known around Clare County, though. Motorists drove past the ranch to see the dog that loved cows. His story was featured in newspaper articles and on a television program. But on Thanksgiving morning last year, ranch hands found the body of Rover, shot dead, a few feet away from a slaughtered cow.

The owner surmises that he barked at the rustlers. "He never bit," she told The Saginaw News, "but he protected the cows." She thought the world of him, according to Dave's mother. He was so faithful to his cow. "They are still grieving," she adds.

I have decided that the only way to avoid witnessing the horrors we humans inflict upon other living creatures is to do as Rover did — leave and go live among the animals. A few people have actually chosen that life.

I'm far from ready to abandon human society. So, with a little help from my friends, I avoid the cruel scenes when I can and try to toughen myself when I can't. And I keep on hoping the insane hope that someday we'll grow to fulfill our proper role as keepers of the animals.

Almanack

By Richard Milliman
Avalanche President

Using satire is not easy

LET'S CLEAR UP A COUPLE of points with this week's edition.

Recently I wrote an essay centered on Speaker Jim Wright's problems in Washington; it focused on possible repercussions at the ballot box affecting all office holders.

With Speaker Wright's problems coming on top of Sen. John Tower's rejection as Secretary of Defense, and what most voters perceive as a greedy grasp for outrageous Congressional pay. There is a school of thought that voters will react by voting against every incumbent they can find .... especially in Congress.

That's probably not the way it works, I wrote. While voters may be fed up with Speaker Wright, or Sen. Tower, and gladly vote against them, voters generally reelect their own congressmen.

The standards differ. Congress as an institution may earn low marks from the public, but most home district congressmen earn high marks from their constituents. The re-election rate of 98-99 percent for incumbents bear this out.

"While as a voter, I may be fed up with Congress as an institution and as an operating body, I don't necessarily dislike or distrust my congressman," I wrote.

"He sends me letters, I see him around, he's a good guy. All those other guys may be crooks, but not my congressman."

"So I agree: Let's throw the bums out. They deserve it."

"But not my congressman. He's okay."

MISINTERPRETED — I should have known this would be misinterpreted. Several readers wanted to know how come I was supporting Cong. Howard Wolpe, or Cong. Bob Carr, or Bill Schuette, or Bob Davis, or Fred Upton? Didn't I say that my congressman was okay?

Well, yes. But that's not what I meant, exactly. It's a question of writing style.

These congressmen, and most others, word hard to establish their separate identities, apart from the Congress as a whole. They work hard to make their constituents see them as individuals, not as one of 435 members of a distant operating body down in Washington called Congress, which often does some puzzling and questionable and even unethical things.

Generally they succeed. That's the main reason most of them keep getting re-elected.

But using satire in a newspaper column is dangerous. The problem with satire is that the reader usually believes you .... the reader tends to take at face value whatever appears in the newspaper.

That's really a pretty good endorsement of newspapers ... but it can lead to problems sometimes when a writer attempts to use humor or satire in making a point.

ANOTHER POINT — Before we leave the Jim Wright case again, let me deal with another point.

"Scandals will continue if Congress remains underpaid." That was the headline over a recent column by Robert Maynard, Editor of the Oakland Tribune in California, and syndicated columnist.

Mr. Maynard contends that because we don't pay Congress enough ($89,500 annual salary), we encourage members to succumb to temptations such as those which seem to have tripped up Speaker Wright.

"We want excellent representatives, but we don't want to pay for them," Mr. Maynard writes.

"We keep expecting the selfless stranger to ride on to Capitol Hill on a white horse. This selfless stranger is expected to do battle with all of the moneyed special interests until nothing less than honest dealing and fairness prevail in the legislative process. Only wise and intelligent choices will be made — and always in the interests of the people."

Well, why not? Is that really too much to ask of someone who has volunteered to help run this country?

In my book, pay levels have nothing to do with it. A crook is a crook. If a congressman who is paid $89,500 a year takes bribes under the table, or pads the payroll, or sells a vote to the highest bidder, we can expect the same behavior if the pay level is $125,000 or $200,000 or even a million a year.

Perhaps the pay level of members of Congress should be raised, but you can't buy morality and honesty and integrity with a few thousand dollars a year in pay raise. Either it's there, or it's not.

A crook is a crook, and a higher wage won't make a bit of difference.

CAGED CATS — Kittens do not belong in cages. They belong in homes where they can be free to romp with a ball of yarn, or curl up on a friendly lap and purr contentedly. These kittens can be seen at the Crawford County Animal Shelter, Monday through Friday from 1-3 p.m. and on weekends from 11:00 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

How to Shop for a Car Loan

Are cheap loan rates a better bargain than rebates?

No, don't be fooled by the bold headlines announcing financing at 1/2 the going rate. Your selection is probably limited and you may not be able to afford the monthly payments because the term of the loan is too short.

Special rates offered by car dealers may raise the price of the car. For instance, car makers often increase the price of a car to recoup the cost of deep-discount loans. Also, you can't bargain price if you take the lower rates.

It is the price of the car that makes the biggest difference in your monthly payments and in the total amount of money you pay. The rebate can be used as a downpayment lowering your monthly payments.

Should you purchase credit life insurance?

Dealers can make up lost profits from the cut-rate loan offers by tying the insurance to the sale of the car—the low loan rate may only apply if you also purchase the credit insurance. This insurance can add hundreds of dollars to the price of your car!

Dealers routinely add credit life insurance to every contract. Be sure to question this practice before signing a loan agreement with your dealer.

You shop for a car—why not shop for a car loan?

Find out how much you are eligible to borrow. Your Credit Union can help you in this respect. Knowing your borrowing limit and the size of monthly payments you can afford will give you greater bargaining power. You'll be in a better position to bargain with the car dealer and get the price of the car you want down.

How can your Credit Union help?

Your Credit Union can help in the following ways:

- Provides better bargaining power because you'll start with a cash offer
- Offers more flexibility on the terms of payment than with dealer financing
- Helps you save on sales tax by taking a price break or rebate instead of the dealer's discount financing
- Has a better deal on loan insurance

You can trust your Credit Union—because you are part owner! If we can't offer you a better deal, we'll tell you so. At Wurtsmith Community Federal Credit Union—we've got your best interests at heart!

Camp Grayling Thefts Treated as Federal Crimes

Camp Grayling Commander, COL David "Skip" Hanson, reminds all citizens that any person found damaging or unlawfully removing property at Camp Grayling will be prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law.

In response to recent, serious incidents of theft and damage, COL Hanson explained that although Camp Grayling is situated on state-owned land, the property and equipment are federally funded. Destruction or theft, then, is a federal offense, and will be dealt with accordingly. "When this property is damaged or stolen," states Hanson, "the cost of repairs or replacement is shared by taxpayers, and it hurts everyone."

A recent incident of larceny investigated by the Crawford County Sheriff Department on April 17 at Camp Grayling, has attracted the attention of the F.B.I. and the Federal District Attorney's office, and the suspects face possible imprisonment for the felony, of up to five years.

One persistent type of vandalism that has plagued Camp Grayling is the tearing down and theft of protective fencing around firing range impact areas.

The fences are for the safety of the public, and they comply with Department of Natural Resources closure orders.

"We are now in the process of repairing and replacing damaged or missing fences," states COL Hanson. "So far this season, over 1,000 feet of fencing has been replaced. The fence is there to prevent personal injury to civilians. Anyone having knowledge of this vandalism is urged to contact the Range Control office of Camp Grayling. Any tips or information to stop this damage will be appreciated."

SPORTS FANS!

I Bet You Didn't Know

Brought To You By Mark Sloan Sales Representative

Here's a surprising fact... Even if Babe Ruth NEVER hit a home run in his life, he probably still would have made baseball's Hall of Fame... It's a little remembered fact that before Ruth became a great hitting outfielder, he was one of the best pitchers in baseball... He won 20 games as a big league pitcher in consecutive years... He led the American League in earned run average and complete games, and he pitched 17 shutouts before being switched to an outfielder!

Did you know that nobody has ever been able to win the Indianapolis 500-mile auto race 3 years in a row? Several drivers in history have won it twice in a row, but nobody's ever won 3 straight.

One of the most amazing pitching performances of all time was by Hall of Famer Rube Waddell... While pitching in an exhibition game many years ago, Waddell wanted to show local fans how good he was - so he ordered all his teammates except the catcher off the field... With no fielders behind him, he then struck out the side on 9 consecutive pitches!

I bet you didn't know... That there are still major incentives from GM and Chrysler to help convince you that you can't live without a new car or truck! The salespeople at Scher Motors have been instructed to give you an even more fantastic deal to make it impossible to say no! So say yes, I'll go look at that new car today! See you at Scher Motors soon.

PUBLIC NOTICE

The following is a summary of the proposed Northeast Michigan Consortium's Economic Dislocation and Worker Adjustment Assistance Act (EDWAAA) activities for program year 1989:

Total EDWAAA program funds planned for FY 1989 - $133,014

1. Description of Planned Activities: Outreach, eligibility determination, aptitude/interest assessment, and the development of a detailed personal plan of action toward full re-employment will precede the core form of retraining services—on-the-job the core form of retraining services—on-the-job training. Dislocated workers requiring intermediate program steps to remedy specific barriers to employment (i.e. literacy, job seeking skills, etc.) will benefit from a regional program integration effort to coordinate these services among various providers.

2. Retraining Services: Forty-eight (48) dislocated workers will be enrolled in on-the-job training for 32 hours or more a week for a maximum of 18 weeks at an average wage of $5.00 an hour. Employers will be reimbursed for training at 50% of the participants wages.

3. Rapid Response Assistance: Rapid response efforts in northeast Michigan will be based on the recommended Canadian Model. Immediate technical assistance will be provided to employer and employee groups affected by plant closings or mass lay-offs. The goal of this process, to be initiated by the established regional rapid response team, is to expedite the development of a coalition working under a formal agreement to define, analyze, and address an appropriate programmatic response to the needs of area dislocated workers.

A draft of this proposal is available at the SDA office: Northeast Michigan Consortium, P.O. Box 711, Onaway, Michigan 49765. Please address questions or comments to Diane Phillips, Program Planning Specialist.

The Gospel of John

Part #77

Christian Favor With God

What does God require of the Christian for continued favor and fellowship with Him? "He that hath my commandments, and keepeth them, he it is that loveth me; and he that loveth me shall be loved by my Father, and I will love him, and will manifest myself to him." (John 14:21). It is our work of obedience which proves our love for God, not just our words of profession.

But why does God manifest Himself only to Christians and not to the unsaved world? This question of verse 22 had already been answered by Jesus in verse 17. The unsaved world did not see, know, or receive the Spirit of truth which all Christians have received from God. Our love for God and His truth causes us to obey Him, and results in His abiding presence within the Christian. "Jesus answered and said unto him, If a man love me, he will keep my words; and my Father will love him, and we will come unto him, and make our abode with him." (John 14:23). The world rejects God's words showing their contempt for God. "He that loveth me not keepeth not my sayings; and the word which ye hear is not mine, but the Father's which sent me." (John 14:24).

which is the Holy Ghost, whom the Father will send in my name, he shall teach you all things, and bring all things to your remembrance, whatsoever I have said unto you." (John 14:25, 26). The ability of the Christian to know the meaning of Holy Scripture, and to obey God's perfect will comes from the abiding ministry of the Holy Spirit.

Luke reminds us in Acts 1:2 that following the ascension of Christ into Heaven, these words began to be experienced. "Until the day in which he was taken up, after that he through the Holy Ghost has given commandments unto the apostles whom he had chosen." His disciples not only received the commandments of Holy Scripture, but also power for witnessing. "But ye shall receive power, after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you; and ye shall be witnesses unto me both in Jerusalem, and in all Judaea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth." (Acts 1:8). The Holy Spirit is our teacher of God's Holy Words. He gave us God's words, (1 Pet. 1:21), and He anoints us to understand the Words. (1 John 2:20, 27). Are you walking in loving obedience to God's Word today?

(Hear "The Bible Speaks" at 12:15 p.m. Tuesday on WQON 100 FM).

Pastor "B"

The Christian ability to know and obey God's words is the ministry of the Holy Spirit within. "These things have I spoken unto you, being yet present with you. But the Comforter,

What Do Mothers Teach?

The most important teachers that children have are their mothers. Most of what a child learns before the age of five is taught them by their mothers. All of the skills most important for success in life are introduced, first, by mothers.

The most important thing a mother teaches is love. Because their mothers first loved them, children learn to put their faith and trust in others.

Honor your mother on Mother's Day. She taught you the most important lesson of all—

THE ALTERNATIVE BIFOCAL

QUESTION: What benefits can a "No-Line" type of bifocal give me and can everybody wear them?

ANSWER: Progressive power lenses. "No-Line Bifocals" present the wearer with several benefits. The progressive power lets you see clearly at all distances including intermediate, the area about 16 inches to four or five feet away. The vision from one distance to another is a very smooth transition. The trouble with conventional bifocals is that they have a very abrupt change from distance to near. Line type bifocals also limit you to just two distances - distance and near. The progressive lens is also cosmetically more attractive than the line type bifocal because no visible line is present. In general most people can use the progressive lens with ease, although there are certain circumstances when conventional lenses are more appropriate.

Grayling Middle School Band Receives Top Scores

By Nancy Lemmon

The Grayling Middle School Band proved itself one of the best bands in the state when it received the coveted 1 (Superior) ranking at the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association's annual State Band Festival, held May 6 in Alpena.

In order to qualify for the state level competition, bands must have received a 1 ranking at the district level. The GMS band received 1's from all four judges at their District Festival in February at Traverse City.

They repeated their feat last Saturday, again receiving straight 1's from all the judges. Director Dennis Ormsbee said that the judges even gave the band a few A+ grades, which is an unusual practice.

The sight reading judge wrote in his critique of the band: "This is the fifteenth time I've heard these numbers and your performance I enjoyed. It was the best I have heard today!" Other judges expressed appreciation for the band's fine-looking uniforms and their great posture.

Director Ormsbee changed all of the group's music between district and state level competition. The band performed Noble Heritage, a march; American Folk Fantasy, a Class B selection (even though the Middle School Band competes as a Class C school); and Majestla, a Class

Chigh school selection.

Although the music he chose was very demanding, Ormsbee believed that his musicians could meet the challenge. He observed that they had been "continually improving all year and striving to become better and better. It is really great to see a group continue to grow as this group has done."

Ormsbee's praise for his band extends to the students' parents: "A big round of applause goes out to the great parents who followed the band to Alpena. This is one of the reasons for the fantastic showing of the Middle School Band." He added that the judges also commented on the parental support shown at the state competition.

"I'm really proud of this group and the support we had at the festival," he continued. "This is what makes all the hard work and home practice worthwhile."

Ormsbee admitted that he didn't know who was more excited - the students or their parents - when the ratings went up on the score sheet. "It sure was a joyous time and a really great feeling to be Number 1."

One gets the distinct feeling that the GMS band director might have been just as excited as his musicians and their parents. If so, he deserved to be. Superior leadership is a big ingredient in superior performance.

TOP SCORES — The Grayling Middle School Band could not have scored higher marks at the State Band Festival. They earned Superior ranking — the best in the state.

Guard Approves Funding For Portage Creek Work

The Michigan Department of Military Affairs has recently announced approval of funds by the National Guard Bureau in Washington, D.C., to improve the streambank and water quality in Portage Creek. This project is a joint effort among Camp Grayling and several public agencies and private groups within the Huron Pines Resource Conservation and Development Council, Inc.

The partnership agreement reads, in part, "The members and associates of this agreement are united by a mutual dedication to the restoration and preservation of the Upper Manistee River watershed as a highly-prized, multiple-use natural resource."

The project is in keeping with Camp Grayling's Good Neighbor policy, and complies with the intent of the National Environmental Policy

Law. The National Guard will contribute $45,000 toward labor and material costs for the project.

Portage Creek is a small freshwater stream located just northwest of the Camp's main cantonment area. It crosses through the Camp and is recognized as a valuable coldwater trout fishery. The origin of the creek is Lake Margrethe, and it empties into the Manistee River just west of the Camp's boundary. Military activity and recreational vehicles in past years have resulted in streambank erosion and sedimentation entering the stream at several points.

Restoration of Portage Creek has been urged by the Upper Manistee River Association, a non-profit group concerned with the river environment and water quality. Because of strained budgetary priorities, governmental agencies have been unable to begin the needed work. With funds now available through the National Guard, and with other agencies providing plans, permits, machinery and labor, the physical work is ready to begin.

Phase I of the project is assessment of the number and location of sites in need of treatment. Engineering and structural design are Phase II. The physical remedies may include rock emplacement, shaping of slopes, vegetation, and wood structures in or along the stream.

Actual construction, Phase III, should begin in July according to information from Joe Kutkuhn, chairman of the Upper Manistee River Restoration Committee.

Camp's Howe Road Closed Until May 21

Howe Road, the main road through Camp Grayling, has been closed to civilian vehicular traffic until May 21. COL David "Skip" Hanson, Commander of Camp Grayling closed the road to prevent risk to civilians during this period of combat maneuvers in South Camp.

This ten-mile stretch of improved gravel road, also known as the Sharon Road Truck Trail, lies between the main camp area and the Camp's west border. Totally contained on Camp Grayling, its use is under the authority of the Camp Commander.

The Camp asks for cooperation of the local residents during this brief period. The restriction is for public safety, and to permit training without unnecessary congestion.

Auditions Set For Local Theater Show

Take a husband, a wife, a lover and a friend, add a strange lamp, a gun and a rubber chicken, plus a party that begins at 8:00 p.m., then again at 8:00 p.m., and then again at 8:00 p.m. — and you have a nightmare comedy of a four-some that find themselves re-enacting one horrible hour of their lives over and over, as themselves, as Japanese, as British aristocracy, as gangsters and almost anything else you can think of, until they make everything come out right. This is the story of the laugh a minute comedy entitled "Who's On First?" that will be presented by the Grayling Holiday Inn for their next Dinner Theatre Production scheduled for July 13, 14, 15.

Auditions for parts for this production will be held at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday evening, May 16, at the Grayling Holiday Inn. Anyone who is interested in assisting with this production is cordially invited to attend the audition session.

...about your Social Security

"Will Social Security still be around when I'm ready to retire?" This is a question that was being asked frequently several years ago. Now it's being asked less and less, as more people are hearing about the growing financial health of the system.

Since 1983, when a series of changes were implemented to strengthen the Social Security system, the trust fund reserves have registered annual increases. Present estimates say that cumulative reserves will mount rapidly and will be more than sufficient to pay benefits well into the next century without additional financing.

This means that today's baby boomers who will start retiring around 2010 can be assured that the system that is a major source of income for their parents and grandparents will be there for them, too. This is no small assurance to people who are planning their financial security and hope to use the benefits as a base on which to build.

In fact, a survey by the American Council of Life Insurance indicated that, since 1984, public confidence in Social Security has risen slowly but steadily, showing a sharp increase in the past 2 years.

It is essential that the trust fund reserves, generated by the 1983 amendments, be allowed to grow. Without them, Social Security taxes would have to go up substantially to pay benefits to the retirees in the 21st century. That could generate an entirely different perception of the value of the program to society and public confidence in its future would undoubtedly fall.

To check on your own Social Security investment, request a statement of earnings and benefit estimate. Request forms are available at Social Security offices, and at most post offices. The reply you receive will give you a yearly breakout of earnings credited to your record, and an estimate of benefits payable to you and to your family upon your retirement or disability, or to your survivors upon your death.

Contact Social Security toll-free at 800-2345-SSA (234-5772). Operators will answer calls from 7:00 a.m. until 7:00 p.m. At all other times, you can leave a message.

The Traverse City office is open Monday-Friday, 9:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. The telephone number is (616) 946-8360.

A representative is at the County Building in Grayling on the first and third Tuesday of each month, 10:30-2:00. There is no phone service at this location. Callers should use the toll-free number.

Copies of the DEIS have been placed for public review in the Public Libraries of Crawford, Kalkaska, Otsego, Wayne, Oakland, and Kent Counties and the Michigan State Library in Lansing. Individuals wishing their own copy of the 26 page Executive Summary of the DEIS or a copy of the entire 500 page DEIS may obtain one by writing to the address given in this notice.

BACKGROUND:
Camp Grayling Army National Guard Training Site is a state owned and operated, federally funded installation. Pursuant to section 102(2)(c) of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969, the NGB and DMA have, acting as co-lead agencies, prepared a DEIS on the proposed Master Plan Mission/Multiple Construction at Camp Grayling, Michigan. On July 22, 1986, a Notice of Intent to prepare an Environmental Impact Statement was published in the Federal Register. A public Scoping Meeting (in accordance with the Council on Environmental Quality Regulations (40 CFR 1500-1508)) was conducted on September 6, 1986, at Grayling, Michigan to identify significant issues related to the proposed Master Plan Mission/Multiple-Construction at Camp Grayling.

Questions, requests for a copy of the DEIS or its Executive Summary, or written comments on the DEIS should be sent to:

Department of Military Affairs
ATTN: C & FO (DEIS)
2500 S. Washington Ave.
Lansing, MI 48913-5101

ORAL AND WRITTEN COMMENTS

Regardless of whether comments are initially made orally or in writing, all comments end up on paper and, therefore, will be given equal consideration in the Final EIS.

At each of the public meetings, the public is invited to make comments on the DEIS. In order to allow everyone attending the public meetings to speak, it may be necessary to place a time limit on individual comments. Individuals with lengthy comments should be prepared to submit additional material in writing.

Written comments may be submitted by anyone at anytime during the public comment period, which ends July 1, 1989

ABSTRACT

In response to deficiencies in existing facilities and the national mandate for the increased combat readiness of the National Guard, new facilities and activities have been proposed for Camp Grayling. The proposed actions include implementation of the Camp Grayling Master Plan construction and winter training mission. The Master Plan projects involve renovation of existing facilities, and increased efficiency of training site utilization. The DEIS will address impacts of the Master Plan implementation related to air quality, noise, physical setting (soils), natural resources (vegetation and wildlife), land use, waste disposal, water resources, cultural resources, and socio economics.

In addition to the proposed actions, three alternatives were considered in the DEIS: No action (status quo), Modification/Alteration of Action, Conduct actions at another location.

The identification of preferred alternatives in the DEIS does not constitute a final decision. The DEIS and any comments received will be used by the Army National Guard to prepare a Record of Decision.

Resource Review

By Bruce Patrick
Conservation Officer

Most of us are aware of the practice of banding birds. Appropriately sized metal bands are attached to the leg of a captured bird which is then released. A small portion of these banded birds are later relocated and the band numbers submitted to a central location in Maryland. Knowledge about bird longevity, migration patterns and habits is gleaned from this information.

Few people realize, however, that banding of herons occurred as early as 1710 in Turkey. In America, John James Audubon pioneered banding in 1803. In 1963 there were over 2,000 banding cooperators in the U.S.

and Canada. By now, I expect that number to be substantially higher. From 1920 to 1960, 11 million birds were banded in North America, with return information on 800,000 submitted. Even with this small return rate, some important information on birds has been gathered.

The most obvious knowledge gained involves bird migration routes and periods. One of the most surprising things learned in this context is that birds found in one locality don't necessarily migrate to the same location. For example, two young Mourning Doves banded in the same nest in Michigan in May of 1988 were relocated in December of that year. One in Georgia and the other in Texas. Then there is the fact that Bald Eagles hatched in Florida invariably travel northward into Canada during their first summer.

Taken one step further, colored bird bands can be used to identify individual birds for study on a day-to-day basis. With today's technology, small transmitters can be attached to the tiny Kirtland's Warbler so that its movements can be monitored electronically.

As with almost all wildlife research, banding programs are funded by hunters through their license purchases.

Doodles from the Tall Timber

By Wendell L. Hoover
Hartwick Pines Interpreter

This is my favorite time of year without a doubt and there is so much going on in nature there doesn't seem to be enough time to see everything. If spring is a favorite, my favored birds are chickadees and hawks, and to be honest the Red Tailed Hawk ranks right at the top of the list for that species. A hawk is a hawk you say and that I cannot deny. The only thing which sets a Red

Tail apart from the others is the rufous color on the top of its tail feathers.

Its latin name is Buteo jamaicensis which indicates it is a broad wing hawk. It is the most common and widespread of the American branch of the family and like other broad winged hawks, it is often seen soaring over open areas in search of prey. They also like to perch in a tree or on a stub at the edge of openings where prey can be detected in the grass. While some other hawks often take poultry, the Red Tail prefers small rodents.

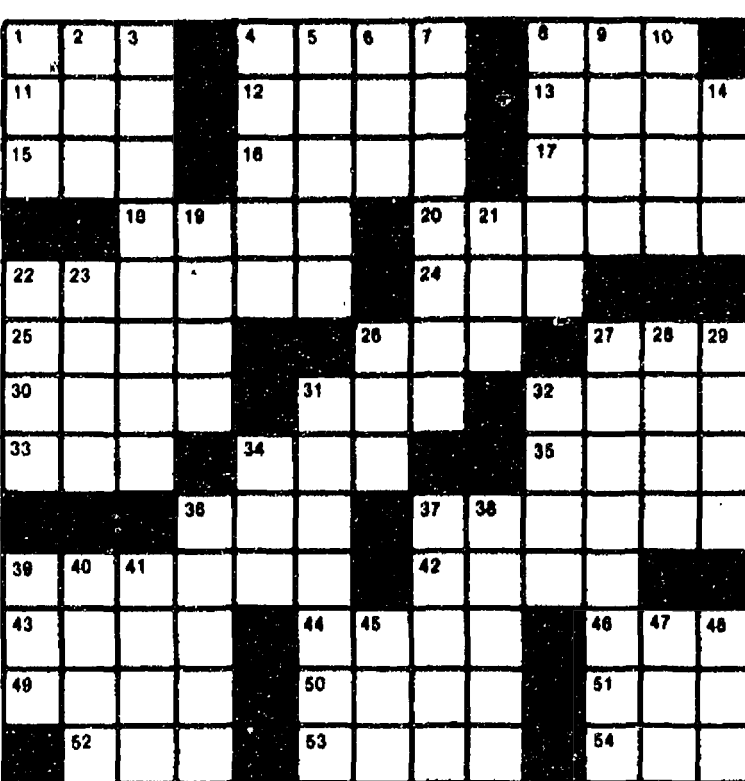

In flight you may not see the red upper surface of the tail so keep an eye out for a dark band across the belly. According to one source, the call is an asthmatic squeal, kee-r-r slurring downward.

Recipes

By Phyllis Brummer

Fresh home-grown Rhubarb will soon be available, so it's time to bring out all the favorite recipes. This recipe makes an excellent coffee cake served warm.

Rhubarb Upside-down Cake

Combine 3 tbsp melted butter, ½ c. sugar and 2 c. diced rhubarb and spread in 8" round or square pan. Prepare a one-layer white cake mix (such as Jiffy) and pour over rhubarb. Bake 35 minutes at 375°. Let set 5 minutes and invert on a plate.

Rhubarb Crunch

1 c. flour
¾ c. rolled oats
1 c. brown sugar
½ c. butter
6 c. small cubes of rhubarb (about 2 lbs.)
½ c. sugar
1 c. orange or apple juice
3 tbsp. cornstarch

Combine flour, oats and brown sugar. Cut in butter. Press ¾ of the mixture into 9 x 13 pan. Cover with cubed rhubarb. In medium saucepan, combine sugar, juice and cornstarch. Bring to a boil and cook, stirring, until thick and clear. Pour over rhubarb and top with remaining flour mixture. Bake at 350° about an hour, or until bubbly and light brown.

Golden Rhubarb Puff

1 c. milk
¾ c. flour
½ c. sugar, divided
3 eggs
2 tsp. vanilla
1/8 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. cinnamon
1/8 tsp. cloves
2 c. rhubarb in ¼" slices
powdered sugar

In blender or food processor combine milk, ½ c. sugar, eggs, vanilla and salt. Process until smooth. Pour batter ¼" deep in 8" square pan; bake at 400° for 5 minutes, or until set; remove from oven. Combine ½ c. sugar with cinnamon and cloves and sprinkle about 1 tbsp. over batter in pan. Spread rhubarb over batter and pour remaining batter over all. Bake 25-30 minutes until batter is puffed and golden. Cool on rack and sprinkle with powdered sugar.

Quick Rhubarb Jam

5 c. rhubarb, cut fine
4 c. sugar

1 pkg. raspberry gelatin

Boil rhubarb and sugar for ten minutes. Add gelatin, stir to dissolve and pour into hot jars. Seal.

Fresh Strawberry Rhubarb Pie

For Microwave

2 c. sliced rhubarb
½ c. water
1 (3 oz.) pkg. strawberry gelatin
2 tbsp. sugar
2 c. sliced fresh strawberries
½ c. ice water
1 (9") graham cracker pie crust, baked and cooled
2 c. whipped topping

In 4 cup measure combine rhubarb, water, gelatin and sugar. Cover and cook on high for 4 minutes, or until mixture boils and rhubarb is almost tender. Add berries, cover, and cook on high one minute. Add ice water and chill until mixture is syrupy. Pour mixture into pie shell and refrigerate until set. Spread whipped topping over pie and garnish with fresh strawberries.

Rhubarb used to be known as "pie plant" and was used mostly in that manner. Though thought of as a fruit, rhubarb is actually a member of the lily-of-the-valley family. Its leaves and roots are poisonous; only the stalks are edible. When buying rhubarb, look for firm stalks, not limp, with a pink to deep red color. Rhubarb needs a cold winter to thrive year after year. Northern Michigan has the ideal climate.

Poet's Corner

To Mother

*I've had a secret yearning
I've had it from the start.
I'd like to put into words
This feeling in my heart.*

*Well, gee, it rather embarrasses me
To say these things out loud,
But to have a mother such as you
Just makes me feel so proud!*

*You always seem to understand,
You always see my side.
To find a better friend than you
I couldn't if I tried.*

*You often nurse me day and night
And for as long as needed.
You always give me good advice
Which sometimes goes unheeded.*

*To sum it up Mother dear,
I'd like to propose a toast:
Here's to Mother whom I love,
The Mother who is the most.*

Strolling Around Town

By Fay Bovee

One of my walks took me up Chestnut Street where there is some remodeling activity on the building on the business loop at the end of the street — maybe a new business?

Coming by the Ralph Hoffmans their sidewalk is cleaned off nice and wide and on the next corner, the John Wejrowskis have a nice addition to their home and lots of yard work going on — looks like new lawn. They've certainly cleaned up that corner!

Michigan Avenue was open over the weekend as the construction crew seems to be progressing well. A lot of new gravel is down and before the week is out we expect to see the three blocks leveled off ready for the blacktop.

...We Bring It All To You!

Verse or Worse

By Joseph D. Murphy

Mother's Loving Care

*Mom was a good and loving mother
And if she woke up in the night
She always came to check on us
To make sure we were alright.*

*I remember well her nighttime visits
When she came to see that we were warm
And well covered by our blankets
Safe from the cold and storm.*

*If we were sick she always came
To check our fevered brow
To doctor us with her old time cures
I can taste some of them right now.*

*Dear Mom has gone to her reward
In the promised land above
She was a wonderful mother
Full of understanding and love.*

*Sometimes on a real cold night
Or when I'm ill or in pain
I know she comes to check on me
Because I feel her love again.*

*I sometimes feel her tuck in my blankets
Or her gentle hand upon my brow
It's like I was a child again
I hate to wake up to now.*
